Diagnoses

People with any advanced illness, regardless of age, may be eligible for hospice. Some common diagnoses include:

 ALS * Alzheimer's * Cancer * Congestive Heart Failure * Multiple Sclerosis
* Pulmonary Disease (COPD) * End-Stage Dementia * End-Stage Liver Disease
* End-Stage Renal Disease * Parkinson's Disease * Stroke*

People who are coping with serious multi-symptom deterioration, frequent emergency room visits, and/or hospitalizations, or who are discontinuing aggressive treatment may also be eligible for hospice care.

Hospice help and benefit?

Hospice provides services where the patient is—at home, in assisted living, or in a nursing home. It's completely free, alleviating financial burden along with offering medical care. It also addresses spiritual and social needs, tailored to the patient's wishes.

The main aim is to enhance the quality of life for those who are ill.

Eligibility for Hospice Care?

Those with illnesses in which curative measures are no longer effective, appropriate, or desired.
